Dr. Sukhvinder Singh Saggu is one of India's most respected and skilled laparoscopic surgeons. Based in New Delhi, India Dr. Saggu has over the last decade created a niche for himself in the field of laparoscopic surgery and weight loss remedies. Besides treating patients, Dr. Saggu has ventured into several other areas. He has successfully authored several educational papers and created industry relevant presentations on laparoscopy, bariatric procedures and its related fields. In the year 2011, he was also the sole recipient of the "Services Excellence Award 2011" in the field of Laparoscopic Surgery as well as the "Indira Gandhi Memorial Award 2011 in Medicine".

During the last decade, Dr. Saggu has created a name for himself with his unique and exceptional obesity care and treatment methods and overall health maintenance procedures. He firmly believes that treating a patient is not enough. The role of a doctor lies in helping patients stay healthy and prevent the re-occurrence of problems.

Dr. Saggu is a gold medalist medical graduate from the prestigious SMS Medical College, Jaipur. He further went on to complete his post-graduation in General Surgery from Medical College, Amritsar. Dr. Saggu then began his career at MCD Hospital, New Delhi as a senior resident.

Throughout his career, he constantly sought newer avenues and courses to keep himself updated and abreast on the latest technology and changes in medicine. He successfully completed a minimal access skill course in laparoscopy and gastrointestinal surgery from AIIMS, Delhi.

By then however, Dr. Saggu was already considered to be an expert in his field. He was a well-known name in the industry. His successful career did not stop him from constantly upgrading himself though. He went on to receive his fellowship in Minimal Access and Gastroendo Surgery from Apollo Hospital, New Delhi. A tenure in Bariatric surgery at the renowned Sir Ganga Ram Hospital followed. Over the last 10 years, Dr. Saggu has been associated with some of the best hospitals in India. He has worked at the Asian Institute of Gastroenterology Surgery, Ahmedabad, as a fellow to acquire bariatric and advanced laparoscopic gastrointestinal surgical skills. He has also attended a course in Advanced Laparoscopic Bariatric surgery from AZ Saint John Hospital, Belgium, under the able guidance of Dr. Bruno Dillemans.

Today, Dr. Saggu authors several papers and conducts regular workshops and conferences on obesity, bariatric surgery and laparoscopy across India. Professionally, he works as a consultant in Laparoscopic, Gastrointestinal and Obesity surgery at various leading hospitals like B.L.K Hospital, Pusa Road, New Delhi, Fortis Jessa Ram Hospital, Karol Bagh, New Delhi, Mool Chand Hospital, New Delhi, Nova Specialty Surgery, New Delhi, Adiya Hospital, Green Park, New Delhi. He is a much sought after name in the industry and is highly respected among his peers. His extensive knowledge, skills and humility add to his overall personality.

Besides pursuing his profession, Dr. Saggu is also an active social reformer. He regularly works towards the betterment of the needy and underprivileged. He participates in social reform measures and believes that education and free health check-ups for the poor are the need of the day.

Dr. Saggu is also a recipient of "Services Excellence award 2011 in the field of Laparoscopic surgery" and also "Indira Gandhi Memorial award 2011 in medicine"
